Pharasma trials

In the Golarion setting, souls get judged after death by the goddess Pharasma and her judges, and sent to one of nine afterlives, corresponding to the nine D&D alignments. The afterlives send representatives to the trials of souls they're interested in. Nirvana, the Neutral Good afterlife, sends a representative to every trial.

The first trial appeared on-page in the middle of the "only that which they defend" continutity, in the thread "what can be destroyed by the truth", in December of 2020. There was another in "the sigh of the oppressed creature" in June 2022, and then a number of threads about trials in spring 2023.
