Sherlock is the Sherlock from the Phaeton universe.

History

Background

Sherlock was cloned by a bored twelve year old Tony Stark, and grew at an accelerated rate until they were both fourteen.[1] Tony, uncertain what to do with his clone, ignored him; as a result, Sherlock was raised mostly by the A.I.

Jarvis.[2] Sherlock and Tony were attacked and killed by a vampire alliance; upon awakening as a vampire, Sherlock killed both the remnants of the alliance and the man who sent them and ran away.[3]

Gem of Amara

Sherlock tracks down the Gem of Amara in Forks and and gets into town by failing to flinch when faced with a cross.[4] Once inside, he threatens Bella Swan into giving him the Gem.[5] They then make a deal; she will not report him to the USADI if he stays in Forks so she can ensure he's not killing people.[6]

Forks Student

Sherlock arrives at Forks High masquerading as a student named John Escott from London, England.[7] He claims his parents have recently been turned into vampires and he needed to move somewhere remote and well protected to hide from them.[8] On the second day of school, he meets Angela; she offers to let him stay in her family's spare room in exchange for help around the house.[9]

Witchnook

Sherlock gets a job as a cashier at the Witchnook to help pay his bills.[10] When Bella, irritable from withdrawal, shows up one day and bursts into tears, Sherlock is surprised to discover he actually cares about her and offers a hug.[11] Suspicious, Bella casts a truth spell on him, but he simply admits he legitimately likes spending time with her and wants to comfort her.[12] The resulting awkwardness eventually eases when Bella stops by the Witchnook for some sage and he apologizes for scaring her when he first demanded the Gem.[13][14]

Abilities

Sherlock describes himself as very good at fighting and "analyzing and responding to situations quickly".[15] As a human he once defeated a vampire in single combat.[16] He has excellent impulse control and speed compared to most vampires.[17][18] He has theorized his ability to control his vampiric side is due to the way he constructed most of his personality from scratch to model the famous detective.[19] He is also very good at cooking, as he often fed himself growing up.[20]
