Ravel

Ravel
World
Name	Ravel
Source Canon	Original
Continuity	Incandescence
Population
Sapient Species	• Humans
Native Magic	Ravelers

Ravel is one of the worlds of Incandescence. It would have been the seventh world to encounter the Plague of Utopias.

Society

Antaurb

Antaurb is one of the two known countries in Ravel. It is less well developed than Casasha, and for cultural reasons- namely, that it is difficult to pay people for results or skills instead of strictly their time- it makes less use of its magic users. Adarin and Zeviana Sorelas are from Antuarb.

Casasha

Main article: Casasha

Casasha is one of the two known countries in Ravel. It is nicer and better developed than Antuarb, and makes better use of its mages. Sharabel Swanpennon is currently the heir to the throne of Casasha.

Casasha is a monarch with a unusual succession system. The heir of the throne is chosen by the magical "Heir Crown", which will float if placed on the head of someone deemed worthy. To be worthy, a person has to have, at minimum, gone through a quest to save others for basically selfless reasons. The children of the current monarch get the first try; after that, people from the nobility, or "pennon" families, have a chance, and failing that commoners might have a shot.

Magic

Main article: Category:Raveler

Roughly 0.5% of the population of Ravel gains a magical specialty called in their teens. These magic users are known as "ravelers", though their abilities vary by specialty. There is no other known magic in Ravel.

Imported from the Incandescence Wiki on Fandom (CC BY-SA).

Revision #2
Created 2026-10-14 14:48:04 UTC by Admin
Updated 2026-10-14 16:16:39 UTC by Admin