About Favor/Ales(s)a

Clusters

Alessa currently comes in three clusters.

Sex slave to gods - intense altruism

The original cluster, these Alessas are generally taken as sexually enslaved by gods or other powerful beings. The original form tends to have these gods as powerful and potentially ruling in whatever territory or polity the Alessa is from, and to take some people as tribute. God-owners tend to be selfish and not concerned by the consent of people they consider theirs, but not utterly maliciously evil, though ownership by much more evil beings is also possible for these Alessas.

For this cluster, the Alessa's self-sacrificial nature manifests as being glad to be taken (rather than it being someone else instead). They dedicate themselves to being anything and everything their owners might want, in pursuit of drawing interest (in place of potentially someone else) and finding favor (that they can use to help others).

Sex slave to gods - lonely slave desires

While similar in many extents and circumstances to the first cluster, these Alessas have the additional trait of basically being very intensely submissive, in relationship terms, and having a strong underlying longing for a relationship where this can be met, answered and satisfied, where the ones they serve will appreciate them and treasure them.

They do not, by default, have this. Their owner-gods do not care for them in the way they yearn for. The Alessas continue trying to please their owner-gods, for the usual reason and as the expression of this desire, of which they are not, by default, very consciously aware.

Role submissive

Currently the newest cluster, its first instance was Alessa the Manere submissive. This cluster can also instantiate in other worlds that have a strongly roled society, for instance some a/b/o worlds. He will always be of the oppressed-class role.
